NEW ASSOCIATION FORMED.

Colleges Take Tech into the University Fencing League.

Following the announcement in the last issue of The Tech that Harvard, Cornell, and Columbia had resigned from the Intercollegiate Fencing Association because that body had refused to take in Technology, comes the information that those three colleges immediately formed a new organization, which they named the University Fencing League. These three are the charter members. They took in Tech, and asked Princeton to decline its election to the older organization and join the newer one. It is thought that Princeton, which was refused admission to the I. F. A. at the same time as M. I. T., but later was taken in, will decline the election and stay with the new association.

Not only will the five teams mentioned above be members of the new League, but there is likelihood that Michigan, Chicago, and Georgetown will be added to the membership roll. It was announced recently by a member of the new association that there had been dissensions right along in the Intercollegiate Association. The expressed purpose of this body was to promote fencing as an intercollegiate sport and to encourage its spread everywhere among the colleges. Annapolis and West Point, however, led an opposition which was directed against admitting any but a select few universities. Thus several colleges have been kept out which were eager to be among the colleges in the league. The new association is considerably more of a national body than the older one.

The tournament of the association will be held in New York March 9 and 10.

F. B. SMITH TO ADDRESS Y. M. C. A.

The Technology Young Men's Christian Association has planned for another Mass Meeting in Huntington Hall, on Friday noon similar to the one held in October. Fred B. Smith of New York City, the International Young Men's Christian Association Secretary, will be the speaker. He has chosen as his subject for the Technology Mass Meeting, "Profit and Loss."

President Pritchett or Dean Merrill will preside. Mr. Smith has recently returned from a world tour. Everywhere he was received by large and enthusiastic audiences. Every Technology man will want to hear him. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman says, "He is the greatest speaker to men in the world."

PROM COMMITTEE ELECTIONS.

At a meeting of the Junior Promenade Committee the following officers were elected: J. H. Leavell, Chairman; D. G. Robbins, Treasurer; R. C. Albro, Secretary. The Committee will hold regular meetings every Tuesday at 1.30 P.M. in the Trophy Room.

MEET COMING.

B. A. A. Making Preparations for their Annual Indoor Meet.

The Boston Athletic Association will hold its annual indoor meet on Feb. 10. Tech has always entered a relay team besides a number of men in individual events. The entries will close on Jan. 29. Among the college relay teams which will enter are Harvard, Yale, Princeton, University of Pennsylvania, Cornell, Dartmouth, Amherst, University of Maine, Williams, Brown, Tufts, and Bowdoin. The handicap events are: 40-yd. dash (9-ft. limit), 600-yd. dash (30-yd. limit), 45-yd. high hurdles (9-foot limit), 1000-yd. run (50-yd. limit), one-mile run (60-yd. limit), putting 16-lb. shot (6-ft. limit), and high-jump (6-in limit).

There will be two novice events, the 40-yd. dash and the 440-yd. dash, both run from scratch.

A new feature this year will be a New England intercollegiate open team championship race, provided four teams enter.

Entries can be made to George V. Brown or George B. Billings of the B. A. A. Amateurs may register on payment of 25 cents to J. Frank Facey, 36 Prospect Street, Cambridge. The entry fee to meet is 50 cents.

CATHOLICS TO ORGANIZE.

All Catholics at the Institute are urged to attend an informal meeting to be held at the Union tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock.

At this meeting an effort will be made to form some sort of a permanent organization, similar to the Catholic clubs now in existence at Harvard, Yale, and Dartmouth. These clubs are meeting with a large measure of success, and we feel that among the one hundred and fifty of our faith at the Institute there is a splendid opportunity for a like organization.

The Rev. John J. Farrell, the spiritual director of St. Paul's Catholic Club at Harvard, will address the meeting, as will also Daniel J. Hurley, their president, Mr. Mooney, the vice-president, and Mr. Kanaley.

The success of this effort depends upon the co-operation of each man, and we strongly urge that you not only come yourself but notify and bring all the Catholic fellows you know.

Michael J. Gibbons,
Allen Pope,
Patrick J. Kennedy,

Mr. M. R. Scharff, 1909, and Mr. A. G. Kellogg, 1909, have been appointed to the News Staff.

Concerning Technique 1908

In the near future the class of 1908 will have the responsibility of choosing its Technique Electoral Committee. We cannot urge too strongly the necessity of an early and deliberate action. This committee chooses the members of the Technique Board, and in order that they may accomplish their task with the best results, an abundance of time is necessary. At best the committee will take several weeks to make its decisions.

The manner of electing this committee has always been a subject of discussion with previous classes, and it is a question which should not be hastily decided. The most important thing is that the best twenty-five men in the class be chosen, and to insure this every Sophomore should endeavor to see that the most representative and deserving members of the class of 1908 are elected. Technique is too important to the undergraduates as a whole to permit of the expression of petty jealousy or personal ambition in the choice of the men who are to choose the future editors, and every precaution should be taken to guard against the possibility of a few men influencing the election.

The Tech Fencing Team will meet Harvard twice this year, once on February 23, and the second time in a quanrangular meet on March 2 with Harvard, Yale, and Pennsylvania.

LAST LECTURES ON CHOICE OF COURSE.

Professor Clifford's lecture on Electrical Engineering began the last series of choice of course speeches. Professor Clifford practically eliminated the question of personal aptitude. The question of getting a job on graduation, he regarded a trivial one. The degrees given here are symbols of hard work well performed and any graduate of Technology is certain of a multitude of jobs awaiting him. Four requirements are especially necessary for the engineering student, a respect for natural laws, an unfailing accuracy, an interest in mathematics as a tool of inestimable importance to the engineer, and a training in English.

Professor Chandler followed the first speaker with an exposition on architecture. With the convenience of a first-class technological school at the students' disposal, the Public Library open to him, and the Museum of Fine Arts within a block of the drawing rooms, there is great reason for asserting that the architectural course at the Institute is among the best in the United States.

Professor Swain's lecture on Civil Engineering ended the series. Civil engineering of some sort has always existed and, as a scientific profession, it is as old as any. The innovation of machinery and of the steam engine caused a separation of Mechanical Engineering from it, and the discovery of electricity created another scientific profession in Electrical Engineering. But Civil Engineering still covers many subjects such as: Surveying; Road, Harbor, and Lighthouse Building; Hydraulics; The Construction of Bridges; and Sanitary Engineering.

Put into partial operation last year and reported on recently as an advisable permanent change, the system of having students go out in small squads to various mines is probably to be adopted at Columbia. The university makes all the arrangements with the mining companies and assigns the students according to their specialties, and the requirement for credit in the work is the presentation of a satisfactory notebook by the student. The usual resident summer school was reduced from a large attendance to one of twenty-one students last year by the operation of this plan.

Tutoring for conditions in all entrance subjects except Science.
